T-Mobile's May T-Mobile New data plans are designed to help you save even more money on the data you use every month. Starting May 13, you can choose from the following three data plans: So why are we doing this? We want you to save $ on data so you can spend less time worrying about money and more time playing with your kids, taking pictures of your vacations, and watching your favorite shows. Why no more data buckets? There are a lot of reasons why we decided to re-align T-Mobile's data plans. You need us to focus on being there for you. If you miss a data bucket, we'll automatically add it back. You never have to worry about missing a month of service. T-Mobile Data Saver is also your one-stop shop for managing your data, whether you choose to use your mobile phone or tablet. It's easy to set up and start saving. How will I use this new plan? With the new Data Saver plan,

You'll pay a low per-GB rate and then simply count data overages against your monthly allotment. And, every month is the same. You can't use more data in May than you can use in June. Will my old plan disappear? Not at all. You will still have access to the 20GB, 30GB, and 50GB plans, which you can use however you want. Will I still get unlimited talk and text? Yes! For landlines, you'll receive unlimited calls within the U.S. to other landlines and cell phones (and while on T-Mobile's network). For cell phones, you will still receive unlimited calls and texts to other devices from T-Mobile's network for each individual line at a reduced rate. Data Saver is currently only available in the T-Mobile ONE plan. You can also choose to add a tablet or smartphone and save even more money! What about my other devices? Any
